WOMAN KILLED BY A CAR

STRIKE SETTLEMENT FAR OFF.

Hazleton, Pa., August 25—A special policeman at the mine near here was stabbed and severely beaten when he attempted to rescue his son from mob strikers. The plan to start the mines with 250 non-union men was frustrated. There seems to be no prospect of a settlement of the strike.

MISS O'REAR'S BODY FOUND.

KILLED BY A CAR.

St. Louis, August 25—Mrs. Mary Antoinette Hopkins, widow of Edward A. Hopkins, former U. S. minister to Argentina, was killed instantly by stepping in front of a street car going at the rate of 30 miles an hour.

FREE DELIVERY

It Will be Established Here by October 1st is the Latest.

No Definite Time is Fixed for Beginning Work

Congressman Charles K. Wheeler, who wrote to Washington last week in regard to the delay in beginning work on the government building and in the establishment of rural free delivery in this county, this morning received a reply, stating that the free delivery would positively be established in McCracken by October 1.

In regard to the starting of work on the government building the letter states that it will begin as soon as matters are straightened out satisfactorily. The letter did not state when this would be, and local officials, are totally in the dark as to any definite time.

CARRIER PIGEONS.

BIGGEST RACE YET FLOWN FROM CENTRAL CITY YESTERDAY.

The biggest homing pigeon race ever flown in Kentucky took place yesterday from Central City to Louisville, a silver cup to go to the owner of any bird breaking the record which was established by Mr. J. N. Browder's "Bob Fitzsimmons" in 1900, and was three hours and thirty minutes from Central City to Louisville, and never broken.

The short races this summer have been quite successful, although the weather has been rather unfavorable.

The entries for yesterday's race were: O. Stanley Sale, 35 birds; S. J. Sobreck, 25 birds; J. N. Browder, 24 birds; T. G. Slater, 19 birds; Walter Gran, 18 birds; Selby H. Sale, 10 birds; S. Hillenbrand, 12 birds; J. E. Hagan, 8 birds; R. W. Hehl, 10 birds; E. O. Junker, 6 birds; J. H. Good and W. H. Gehm, 5 birds each; Frank Vetter, Jake Erbe and Charles Wirth, 3 birds each.

STOCK THIEVES ABOUT FULTON

THEY STEAL EVERYTHING FROM A HORSE TO A HORSE.

There seems to be an organized gang of stock and poultry thieves about Fulton, Ky. Friday night a number of horses and mules were stolen, and Saturday night two mules, several hogs and a large number of chickens were stolen from various farmers near there. Two mules have been stolen inside the city limits.

WATCH FOR A CHILL.

However slight at this time of year and in this climate, it is the forerunner of malaria. A disposition to yawn, and an all tired out feeling even comes before the chill. Herbie, by its prompt stimulative action on the liver, drives the malarial germs out of the system, purifies the blood, tones up the system and restores health. 50c at DuBois, Kolb and Co.

DID YOU EVER

Stop to calculate how much money you spend foolishly? Suppose you do it and then make up your mind to put this amount in bank for a few months and see how much you will have. Just a dime a day amounts to $36.50 a year and most of us spend several times that amount. Let us make you a proposition. Suppose you come get one of our Home Savings Banks and drop your odd change in, say a dime or two dimes a day, and let us pay you interest on it. In a few months you will have a nice bank account, and you will have formed the savings habit and started well on the road to riches.

We pay interest on your deposits and are as anxious to get the small accounts as the large ones.

RUMORS REVIVED.

DEATH OF JOHN W. MACKAY MAY RESULT IN TELEGRAPH CONSOLIDATION.

There is a revival of the rumor that the Postal and the Western Union Telegraph companies are to consolidate. The rumor has been in circulation at various times for the past several years, and is now given another start by the death of John W. Mackay, who is said to have been the only barrier to the scheme.

It is estimated that in New York alone $200,000 a year could be saved by such a combination. Dividends, it is estimated, from eight to ten per cent could be paid by the consolidated companies. No official confirmation or denial has yet been made.

SLICK THIEVES.

ONE PUT ON "HOT TOWELS" WHILE THE OTHER ROBBED.

Passengers on the overland limited from Chicago tell an interesting story of the capture of two robbing train employees who have been robbing travelers for several months. Two detectives who were put on the case by the Northwestern road, pretended to be intoxicated. The barber of the train suggested to one that he try a hot towel on his face. The detective acquiesced, and hanging up his coat and vest sat down in the chair. While his face was covered with the towel the porter took from his pocket $45 in marked bills. Later the men were searched and the stolen money was found. Railway officials say this solves a mystery that has long puzzled them.

RETIRE FROM BUSINESS.

MR. L. W. BOSWELL SELLS HIS STOCK OF GROCERIES.

Mr. L. W. Boswell has sold his stock of groceries on South Second street to Mr. George Goodman, and will retire from the grocery business and devote his time to his oil interests in Central Kentucky. Mr. Goodman's wholesale and retail whiskey business has so increased that it is necessary to have larger quarters, and being located next door to Mr. Boswell, he bought the latter out in order to get the building, which will be connected by an archway to the other. The consideration is to be decided after an invoice of the stock is taken next week.

THE S.S. MOOLS.

OPENING WILL TAKE PLACE TWO WEEKS FROM TODAY.

The public schools will open two weeks from today, September 8, unless the weather becomes too warm. Should the heat become as great as it was last year, the opening will be postponed a week or longer.

The present weather is all right, but the members of the board fear it will not stay cool. The indications are for a larger enrollment than ever before.

MARRY AT MAYFIELD.

WELL KNOWN YOUNG PEOPLE TO WED NEXT WEDNESDAY THERE.

A. A. Streit and Miss Ida May Smith, both of Mayfield, will be married at the home of the bride's father, Ed Smith, Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock. Mr. Streit is a Canadian and is a salesman for the Mayfield Woolen Mills of St. Louis, while his prospective bride is a daughter of Ed Smith, manager of the Merit Pauts company, and is a niece of William Smith, the well known lawyer of Louisville.

VIEWED MEYER'S BODY.

Brussels, August 25.—General Rotha visited the cemetery of Ixelles and saw the body of General Imcas Meyer in the mortuary. Both, who was deeply moved, stood some time in prayer and then placed a wreath on the coffin. The body of the Boer general will remain in the mortuary for three months, when it will be taken to South Africa.

AFTER HORSE THIEF.

CAPTAIN HENRY BAILEY HAS GONE TO HUNTINGTON, TENN.

Information was received by Chief Collins last night that the requisition for John Worley, the negro charged with being implicated in the theft of a horse at Huntington, Tenn., for which Will Gordon has been in jail here for several days past, had arrived from Nashville, and this morning sent Captain Henry Bailey to Huntington to bring the negro here.

He will arrive this evening with him, and the trial will take place at once. The horse was sold in this county, but the officers have not yet succeeded in locating it.

WAS GOING TO PLAY H-L

BUT SOMEHOW THE SUPERSEDEAS MISSED CONNECTION.

Not long ago one of the gentlemen interested in the property condemned by the railroad company was entertaining a crowd of idlers about the drug store with an account of what the property owners were going to do to the railroad company.

"I'll tell you," he declared, "we fellows have taken out one of these here supersedeas things, and supersedeas thing does away with courts, lawyers, judges, railroads and God Almighty himself!"

His friends were anxiously awaiting his arrival today to ask what became of the supersedeas thing in the trial Saturday, but he showed up nary a time.

Judge R. L. Shemwell and Attorneys John G. Lovett and Mike Oliver of Beaton were in the city today.

SHAFT ARRIVES.

BUT THE JOE FOWLER WILL NOT START AGAIN FOR SOME TIME.

The steamer Joe Fowler's new shaft, made at Buffalo, N. Y., arrived at Henderson yesterday, and will be put in at once. Captain Joe Fowler thinks that the boat will be ready to run again by September 1, but unless there is a rise in the river, she will not be started then.

The Fowler broke her shaft near Henderson several weeks ago, and the J. B. Richardson has been running in her place.

THE FUTURE OF FICTION.

By Edgar Saltus.

Julius Verne is quoted in a recent cablegram as stating that fiction, smothered down by the superior sensations of the contemporary press, is succumbing to mortification morbos.

M. Verne is usually right when he is not wrong. In the present instance he is entertaining. Any newspaper, even collegiate, is more absorbing than the drivel of recent romance. In the former there is always some one surprise, even though that be canned in an advertisement. In the latter the surprise is that consumers, other than convicts, can feed on loathsomeness so lethal.

One good story torn bleeding from the press and bandaged with the lint of an honest imagination would knock spots out of tons of these emetics.

The quadrille which the Humberts performed in Paris is a case in point. Properly presented, it would detain the attention of a moribund. The claim of Druce to the Druhy of Portland is another. In the reports of the Society for Psychological Research

ENGINEER ROBBED.

TWO SUSPECTS WERE ARRESTED AT FULTON AND JAILED.

Engineer H. Van Eman left this morning for Fulton to identify two negro suspects under arrest there for robbing him of $95 Saturday while he was oiling the engine.

It is claimed that the negroes were stealing a ride on his train, No. 15 southbound, and when he got out of the cab at Wiago, to oil the engine during the time he was waiting for a local freight, the men slipped into the cab, raised the seatbox lid and secured his pocketbook, which contained $95. The matter was reported to officers along the line and the negroes were soon after under arrest.

PHYSICIAN AND DRUGGISTS.

Ford and Sturgeon, a prominent drug firm at Rocky Hill Station, Ky., write: "We were requested by Dr. G. B. Snigley to send for Herbine for the benefit of our customers. We ordered three dozen in December, and we are glad to say Herbine has given such great satisfaction that we have duplicated this order three times, and today we gave your salesman another order. We beg to say Dr. G. B. Snigley takes pleasure in recommending Herbine." 50c bottle at DuBois, Kolb and Co.

there is nothing that can touch it.

Yet what are these sensations in comparison to the press accounts of the enchantments of Wall street? There was an hour when Union Pacific sold at 3. It was booted to 13C. There was an hour when Northern Pacific sold at 3. It scaled to the altitudes of 1,000. And look at Louisville! Beside episodes such as these the climax in the worst of the best selling novels cannot hold a candle.

No wonder then that M. Verne thinks that fiction is played out. But it is not played out. It is fatigued merely. At the beginning of centuries it is always tired.

At the beginning of the present era Nevins stated to the Sost brothers—the famous publishers—that there was better stuff in the Acts Divine—the Roman Day's Doings—than their shop would ever supply. Nevins lacked perspective. He could not foresee that presently literature would get up and execute a skirt dance at which the world would pant with emotion.

It was that way then. It has been that way since. It is that way now. Presently contemporary garbage will be thrown out. We shall get something fit to read, and that, too, without taking trips under the sea or around the world with M. Verne.

CURED PARALYSIS.

W. S. Bailey, P. O. Trno, Texas, writes: "My wife had been suffering five years with paralysis in her arm, when I was persuaded to use Ballard's Snow Liniment, which cured her all right. I have also used it for old sores, frost bites, and skin eruptions. It does the work." 25c 50 and $1 bottle at DuBois, Kolb and Co.

SCROFULA

I begueth to my children Scrofula with all its attendant horrors, humiliation and suffering. This is a strange legacy to leave to posterity; a heavy burden to place upon the shoulders of the young.

This treacherous disease dwarfs the body and hinders the growth and development of the faculties, and the child born of blood poison, or scrofula-tainted parentage, is poorly equipped for life's duties.

Scrofula is a disease with numerous and varied symptoms; enlarged glands or tumors about the neck and armpits, catarrh of the head, weak eyes and dreadful skin eruptions upon different parts of the body show the presence of tubercular or scrofulous matter in the blood. This dangerous and stealthy disease entrenches itself securely in the system and attacks the bones and tissues, destroys the red corpuscles of the blood, resulting in white swelling, a pallid, waxy appearance of the skin, loss of strength and a gradual wasting away of the body.

S. S. S. combines both purifying and tonic properties, and is guaranteed entirely vegetable, making it the ideal remedy in all scrofulous affections. It purifies the deteriorated blood, makes it rich and strong and a complete and permanent cure is soon effected. S. S. S. improves the digestion and assimilation of food, restores the lost properties to the blood and quickens the circulation, bringing a healthy color to the skin and vigor to the weak and emaciated body.

Write us about your case and our physicians will cheerfully advise and help you in every possible way to regain your health. Book on blood and skin diseases free.

There is no better pilot in the Louisville and New Orleans coal towing trade than Captain W. H. Haptonstall, of Middleport, O. He began his career on the river at the bottom of the ladder and became a pilot on towboats in the St. Louis and New Orleans trade, in which he was successful for many years. He finally became a towboat pilot in the Louisville and New Orleans trade, where he now is, and where he has done some fine work in the past six months. He is now on the big Joe B. Williams.

The river is getting low and the probabilities are that it will be so low that the larger boats may have to go to the bank and the little "stemwinders" of the mosquito fleet take their places. It is to be hoped, however, that a rise will come soon, and the present boats may continue to run.

A Pittsburg dispatch says: The Monongahela River Consolidated Coal and Coke company intends its production to extend at least one-third next year, most of which extra fuel will be hauled from the mines and delivered by rail. Secretary George W. Thies said today: "We intend to extend our facilities and our mines to a marked degree, and while the river shipments will be made larger the shipment by rail will be made a special feature. Heretofore river shipment has been almost entirely depended upon. The mines on either side of the Monongahela river will be worked in this way, the coal to be sent to the markets by way of the river, the Pittsburg and Lake Erie railroad and the Pittsburg, Virginia and Charleston railroad."

Captain Mark Cole, who is just in from a trip, says he heard a good pun the other day. Some young men, sons of a well-to-do lady in the east, bought a ranch out west, and when they had started into business wrote to their mother to have her name it. She replied, stating that they ought to name it the "Focus." They were greatly puzzled by her selection, and when she arrived a short time after that on a visit, asked her what in the world she meant by such a name. "Well, do you know what 'focus' means?" she asked.

"Yes," replied one of them, who had looked it up in the dictionary. "It is the place where the sun's rays meet." "Yes," exclaimed his mother, "isn't this a place where the sun's rays meet?"

PLEASANT TRIP

Dr. C. E. Whitesides Returns From the Elks Reunion.

One of the Most Delightful Ever Held—Kentuckians at Mormon Capital.

Dr. C. E. Whitesides, representative of Paducah lodge to the Elks grand lodge, has returned from his trip to the Elks reunion at Salt Lake City, and reports a most enjoyable time. He found everything delightful, but states that exorbitant prices were charged for everything. It cost some of the Elks $20 a day at the hotels.

He found Salt Lake City a most beautiful place, however, and the grand lodge transacted much important business. Dr. Whitesides does not think that under the resolution adopted by the grand lodge, the Elks can hold any more carnivals of any description. The Elks are not a money making order, and for this reason the carnivals were stopped. The Elks can still give minstrel and private theatricals, excursions and such things, however.

Dr. Whitesides is the only one of the Paducah crowd to come home Saturday. Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Clark returned several days ago, but Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Potter have gone to Yellowstone park, and Mrs. Whitesides and Miss Flora and Adele Harris are sojourning at various other places in the west.

The many friends in Kentucky will be pleased to learn of the success at Salt Lake city of those two well known products of Kentucky journalism, Messrs. Clint P. Leigh and D. Elliott Kelly. Mr. Kelly is editor and Mr. Leigh is telegraph editor of the Salt Lake Telegram, and they have introduced up-to-date and progressive methods and made the paper the best in the Mormon capital. Their work has been widely admired. They extended many courtesies to the visiting Kentuckians during the reunion.

As the original Silverton Trio are at the head of the world's high wire artists, so is every other act of the Wallace show first and foremost in its respective class. There are shows and shows, and then some, but there is only "One Wallace Show" and it is the highest class circus in the world. It will give two performances, one day only, at Paducah, on Friday, September 5.

Such is the equipment of the Wallace show, that all of its important and prominent acts—all of them may thus be properly classified—are well protected. The big tent is water proof and will not leak, the guy ropes are of double strength, and the stakes of iron. Under such conditions the Silverton Trio and hundreds of other performers are not deterred from doing their best, regardless of what capers the elements may be performing without the tent.

B. E. Wallace is the most successful individual showman now in the circus business. He owns the finest piece of circus property extant. His motto seems to be: "Every wagon a work of art and every horse a thoroughbred."

TO INVESTIGATE MINERAL LANDS.
Photographer Cook left for Goleonda today to investigate the reported mineral finds on his brother's lands in Pope county. It is understood that the minerals are very rich, and that a bonanza has been struck. A number of other Paducah men are interested in lands there also.

DIRECT CONNECTION

East Tennessee Telephone Company Makes Another Improvement.

Its Long Distance Line Has Now Been Run Into Princeton, Ky.

The East Tennessee Telephone company has completed its long distance line to Princeton, Ky., and reached there Saturday evening. The line was cut into the exchange there immediately, and gives Paducahans direct connection with Owensboro, Henderson, Hopkinsville, Madisonville, Evansville, and other places in that section.

The improvement is one that the merchants especially will greatly appreciate, as it gives them a great advantage, both in saving delay and cost in telephoning to the above cities.

A WORM KILLER.

J. A. J. Montgomery, Paxlo, Wayne county, Mo., writes: "I have little twin girls who have been bothered with worms all their lives. I tried everything to relieve them which failed until I used White's Cream Vermifuge; the first two doses brought four worms from one of them, the next two doses, twelve, one of them measuring twelve inches; the other child was relieved of four worms. It is a most excellent medicine." White's Cream Vermifuge is good for children. It not only destroys worms, it helps the child to perfect growth, wards off sickness. 25c at DuBois, Kolb and Co.

TARIFF REVISION.

Representative Cannon of Illinois says that the tariff will not be revised at the next session of congress, nor at the succeeding session. It is always demoralizing to the country to talk of revising the tariff, he declares, and he does not believe that a majority of the people want any revision. They do not want to enter into the long doubt and confusion incident to a discussion in congress, because it is always demoralizing to business to have congress begin the work of revising the tariff. The manufacturer waits to see what will be the result, working only on orders; the merchant waits only what he feels certain he can sell, and the ordinary consumer only what he needs.

Mr. Cannon consequently does not think that there will be any advantage to the Democrats to make the tariff question of any prominence in the next campaign. Neither does he think the appropriations made by the last congress will furnish the Democrats with any notably effective campaign material. It is called a "billion dollar congress," but was not, because it fell $200,000,000 short of appropriating a billion dollars. The bathman canal made the appropriation unusually large. The Democrats do not want to go on record as opposing that. As Mr. Cannon says, the Democratic congressmen never opposes any appropriation, no matter how large or unnecessary, provided it is for something near his own home, or in his own district. He says further:

"Congress always contracts for public improvements. That is the modern and business method of handling public works. This congress has authorized contracts. Who opposes those contracts? Do the Democrats or the economists object to the contracts nearest their own homes? I have not heard of any such fault finding. I would like to have the Democrats take up the appropriations and say which should be lopped off. Would they strike down the appropriation for the canal? I fancy not. Would they cut the appropriation for the navy or that of the army, or the rivers and harbors, or the public buildings, or the pensions? I don't believe they would be willing to assume responsibility for leaving out any of these great appropriation bills.

"No, the people are not complaining about the appropriation of public money for public improvements, which causes the circulation of money. Some day we will have the flag floating over every postoffice owned by Uncle Sam, and the people will never be out of sight of Old Glory, and such expenditure is approved by many because it makes Uncle Sam a real estate holder in every community. I shall not devote much time on the stump to defending congress for making the appropriations it did at the last session. It will not be necessary. The Democrats won't make it an issue."

In short, Mr. Cannon propounds some hot questions to the Democrats.

The city assessment is to be taken next month, and should be thorough. Several months ago The Sun called attention to the glaring inaccuracies in the assessment, both city and county, and it is to be hoped that this time nobody will be misled. There is no excuse for allowing some to escape and loading the bulk of the burden on a few. Some of the local papers are now going over the same ground the Sun went over months ago. It is gratifying to see that the justice of our position at last strikes them favorably. If the men the Democrats elect to office can't get up a fair and equitable assessment the people will have to look elsewhere hereafter. The Sun knows considerably more about some of the methods of local assessment than it has yet told. The assessor now has to assess property at "a fair cash value." He should exert himself, for we need the money.

Other cities have begun a war on the tramp element, especially the southern cities. Fulton and Memphis both arrest them as soon as they strike town, and when they are given orders to leave they make tracks at once for Paducah. This is about the time of the year the vagrant contingent seeks the warm southern climate, and southern cities have decided not to longer be annoyed by them, and have accordingly begun their war early, in order that one may be neglected. It may be well for the local police to map out an "anti-hobo" campaign now and put it into operation before the tramps begin arriving in droves. They might start on the worthless negroes and white men who refuse to work and lay idly about the various dives in the city day and night, and keep in practice until the tramps come.

Russell Sage has repudiated the alleged interview published in some of the yellow journals and reproduced all over the country as coming from him, quoting him as saying that if the trunks were not stopped the people would rise in revolt. Mr. Sage says in his denial that all he said was that care should be taken not to develop trusts on too big a scale. That he is not opposed to industrial combinations, for he believes that their formation contributes to the general prosperity of the country. That he did not criticize Mr. J. Pierpont Morgan, because he has every confidence in Mr. Morgan's character and judgment as a financier. From this the yellow journals hatched their startling interview.

Fulton seems to have an enterprising councilman. It seems that he sells stores as a side line, and the other day when one of his customers failed to pay up as per contract, the plucky councilman went around and got the store without officer or papers. It seemed very unkind and unappreciative in the court to have to fine him $10 for his enterprise.

Captain Dreyfus, who is now living in retirement with his family, says that he has estimated that it would require 107 years to read all the articles that have been written about him since his case first came into public notice. He seems to find pleasure in reading them, and doubtless feels grateful to the press of the world, for to it principally he owes his freedom.

Judge T. J. Nunn has been in Frankfort to select his residence as a judge of the court of appeals. He seems to think that it's all over but the moving.

Devotees of the stogie will learn with alarm that 1,500 of the girls who make them are on a strike.

WOODWORKERS DEFEATED.

THE DAWSON BOYS CLEANED THEM UP WELL YESTERDAY.

The woodworkers of the I. C. shops here met with a defeat at Dawson yesterday afternoon and the result of the game showed the Dawson boys victorious by a score of 15 to 6.

The game was started about 2 o'clock and stood 5 to 3 up until the fifth inning, when the Dawson boys found the woodworkers' pitcher and pounded his balls all over the field.

The Paducah baseball enthusiasts are preparing to challenge Madisonville for a game, the winner getting a $100 purse. The team will be composed of Paducah players principally but our Eddyville man and one from Dawson will be used. The game will be played at Dawson and will be arranged within the next two weeks.

ABOUT REQUISITIONS.

CHIEF COLLINS RECEIVES SOME INTERESTING INFORMATION.

Chief Collins recently requested Captain Bailey and Lieutenant Moore to write to the officials in other states from which Paducah would likely at any time want to extradite criminals, asking the cost of requisitions.

Replies have been received from them all, about twenty in number, and it is learned that requisitions cost from one dollar to five.

Two states, however, charge nothing. Mississippi replied that they deliver criminals free and Georgia replied that requisitions cost nothing and they were always glad to get rid of such people as are taken with requisition.

PROMINENT VISITOR.

MR. A. J. HESS TO VISIT LOCAL KNIGHTS OF HONOR.

Mr. A. J. Hess, of Louisville, one of the members of the supreme lodge of Knights of Honor, arrived in the city from the south at noon today and will remain here to attend the meeting of the local lodge tonight when an open session will be held.

Mr. E. G. Boone, of the city is also a representative of the grand supreme lodge and will show the progress made within the past several years. The lodge has not been in better condition for years and the reports made will be received with much satisfaction. Mr. Hess will speak tonight.

Mr. Sam Skinner has returned from a trip to New Orleans.

MR HENRY HANS DEAD

Well Known Citizen Succumbs at Dawson After a Long Illness

Remains Will Reach the City This Afternoon, Burial Tomorrow.

Mr. Henry Hans, a well known citizen of Paducah, died at Dawson Springs last night at 8 o'clock from uremic poisoning after a long illness from rheumatism.

Last week his condition became so serious that relatives were summoned, but it was thought he was better. Last night he sank rapidly until the end came.

Mr. Hans was born and reared in Paducah, and was a son of the late Mr. Nick Hans, who died four or five years ago. He was thirty-four years old, and was married several years ago to Miss Ada Derrington, who, with three children, survive him.

He was formerly in the grocery business at Twelfth and Trimble streets, but on account of ill health was compelled to retire from business about four years ago. He was a frequent sufferer from inflammatory rheumatism, and about four months ago moved his family to Dawson and rented a house, hoping that his residence there would benefit him.

He is the last of his race, his father and mother and brother having died within the past several years. The remains will reach the city this afternoon at 3 o'clock over the Illinois Central. The burial will take place from the Catholic church, and will probably be at Mt. Carmel. The deceased was a member of Paducah Lodge, B. P. O. Elks.

The pall bearers will be: Messrs. James Glauber, James Sherrell, Charles T. Graham, William Oehl-schlaeger, C. E. Gridley, F. J. Berg-doll, I. Young and Gus Reitz.

IN A WRECK.

MR. JAMES UTTERBACK AND FAMILY ESCAPED INJURY.

Mr. James Utterback and family returned at noon from South Haven, Mich. where they had been for some time.

On their return they were in a wreck on the I. C. at Mounds, Ill. The Chicago limited train running between Chicago and New Orleans, ran into a freight train at that place and the engineer and fireman of the passenger and the freight conductor were badly hurt. Mr. Utterback and his family were badly shaken up but not injured. Some one had left a switch open and caused the accident. The passenger train had slowed down slightly to make the switch and when the switch was seen to be open by the passenger engineer he reversed his engine but did not stop quick enough to prevent the accident.

WORK WILL.

I. C. LONG DISTANCE WIRES USED FOR REPORTS YESTERDAY.

Yesterday the I. C. long distance line to Chicago was working for the first time and several reports were sent from here to officials in Chicago.

The wires had been strung and the phones in for several days, but the line had not been in working order. Now all the local employes have to do is to ring up Fulton and get connections for Chicago, or any other station along the line, and talk as long as they desire to.

RAILROAD WON

Judge Husbands Makes the Injunction Perpetual.

Another Black Eye for the Property Owners.

The railroad company, as predicted, won the injunction suit against H. W. Rottgering, tried before Judge Husbands Saturday in circuit court. The suit was to prevent Mr Rottgering from interfering with the contractors in the extension of the railroad from Paducah to Cairo, and the injunction is made permanent.

The court upholds the decision of County Judge Lightfoot, who ruled that the money awarded the property owners for the land condemned should be paid into county court until the amounts are definitely fixed by the courts.

The property owners, who are alleged by the railroad company to have been awarded exorbitant prices by the jury, and will not be allowed that much in the higher court, wanted the money paid to them instead of into the court. After the decision of Judge Lightfoot they decided that they were being deprived of their property without compensation, but Judge Husbands decided that they are not, but that the court is a depository which insures them just compensation when the courts decide what amount they are entitled to.

Although this decision virtually settles the similar suit taken out against Lizzie and Sam Lisle, the attorneys for the latter have demanded a trial of it also. It seems that this will only result in mere costs piling up for the property owners to pay, and will not retard the work on the railroad a particle.

Since the decision of Judge Husbands in the railroad injunction cases, the railroad has been pushing the work through with renewed energy and this morning the contractors placed 80 men on the Rottgering place with 50 teams and the land will be graded and the work pushed faster than before. The decision enables the railroad people to proceed with the work without interference from the property owners.

NOT STARVATION

A Strange Young Man Picked up Almost Unconscious.

He Was George Miller, of Chillicothe, Mo., and He Died at the Hospital.

George Miller, the young man picked up in the High school building yard Saturday and taken to the city hospital in a delirious condition, died last night.

Miller was in a bad condition when found and said in his delirious condition that he was starving to death. Dr. Robert Rivers, the acting city physician, was summoned and after an examination pronounced the man suffering from a congestive chill. He talked at random and did not seem to be perfectly conscious of his surroundings. He frequently talked of the trouble the officers had with the negroes at Greenville, Miss., where he said he was employed in the lumber business and when asked where he lived, gave Chillicothe, Mo., a small place of about 6,000, his home.

He was taken to the hospital in a serious condition and the doctors had little hope for him from the start. No disposition has been made by the authorities of the remains, and his people will be telegraphed of his death.

REPORTED SALE.

IT IS UNDERSTOOD THAT THE CHARLESTON HAS BEEN SOLD BY CAPT. CROUCH.

It is understood that the steamer Charleston, owned by Captain J. A. Crouch, has been sold to the Eaton Lumber Co., of Clifton, Tenn., for a private consideration. Captain Crouch was below this morning at press time and could not be seen relative to the matter, but it comes from good authority that the deal was closed last week and that the boat will go up next week to be taken charge of by her new owners. It is not known what Captain Crouch intends to do, but it is said that he will purchase another craft and again enter the trade.

BARBER WAS ON EASY STREET.

But He Failed to Reassure the Nervous Customer.

William De Long, Commissioner Dougherty's right-hand man in the Department of Water Supply, Gas and Electricity, tells this:

"There used to be a Dutch barber who kept a place in the city here. He had an assistant who was just about as Dutch as the boss, but the assistant thought the boss about the meanest man on earth. Every time he got a customer in the chair he would tell him all about the boss. One day he had a man all fixed, face lathered, and head laid back. Then he began his tale of woe as he stropped the razor:

"Mine boss is der meanest man He churches me 10 cents if I cut a man and a quarter if I gash him." "The assistant went on stropping and the man in the chair was beginning to get uneasy, for it seemed to be a settled thing that every customer would have something happen to him. He waited in silence. Presently the assistant resumed:

"'Pud I don't care to-day.' "Why?" inquired the customer. "Because I run five dollars on der races yesterday and I mifo as vell spend id dat vay as any odder." "The customer suddenly remembered that he had to catch a train."—New Times.

FASTING FOR CORPULENT PEOPLE

Doctor declares it is the Natural Remedy for Too Much Eat.

In the restaurant nearly everybody was too fat, and the physicians, including all those pendulous paunches and double chins in a sneering glance, remarked, "Why will men and women be disfigured with corpulence when the remedy is so simple and sure? What is the remedy? Why, it is, of course, the natural one that would occur to an animal or a savage. It is fasting. Let the fat man or the fat woman fast a week, two weeks, three weeks, or a month—fast till he or she be thin enough—about once a year, say, and corpulence, that most unsightly and unhealthy condition, would vanish from the face of the earth.

"I suppose these fools are afraid to do this," the physician continued, according to the Philadelphia Record. "They think, probably that before they would get sufficiently thin they would starve to death. But the picture of the Cuban and the Indian famine victims answer that fear well enough. None of those folks died of starvation till there was nothing left of them but skin and bone. Fasting would be a very good thing for fat people to do regularly. They would then keep always shapely. During their abstinence they would live on and consume their own fat, as hibernating animals do."

MARK TWAIN AND HIS COLLAR.

Humorist Did His Best to Make Amends for Fault.

Mayor Low's secretary, James B. Reynolds, is authority for the following anecdote, which connects the author of "Uncle Tom's Cabin" with the originator of "Huck Finn."

The Stowe house at Hartford was situated close to the Clemens place, and not infrequently Mr. Clemens is known to have "shinned" over the back fence, his coracob pipe in his mouth, his collar and cravat anywhere but on him. These informal visits were a source of considerable annoyance to Mrs. Clemens, who frequently remonstrated with her husband on the subject.

On the occasion of one particularly long call of this sort, the indignant wife read her spouse a severe curtain lecture. Returning from this, saddened and repentant, the mournful humorist carefully wrapped up a collar and cravat in a sheet of brown paper and dispatched them to Mrs. Stowe, with the following explanatory note:

"Mrs. Clemens tells me that I spent half an hour at your house this morning without the inclosed articles. Therefore I must ask you to look at them for that length of time.

"P. S.—Please return them; they are all I have."—New York Tribune.

How Wines Judge Keep Sober.

If you have ever gone into a wine merchant's office and sampled different vintages you will have observed that the dealer never swallows the wine he puts into his mouth, but holds it there for a time while he lightly breathes through his nose. His palate tells whether the wine is rough or smooth, but his sense of smell detects its aroma, and is largely depended on to determine its quality.

THE EXTREMES OF INDOLENCE.

Japanese Women of Rank Are the Laziest on Earth.

In a recent address in Tokyo a prominent Japanese educator said: "The indolence of Japanese ladies is something amazing. I know a daughter of a certain peer, neither an old court nor a feudal peer, but a brand-new one, and this young lady's indolence is really beyond the idea of ordinary mortals. She will not even open her mouth to her bed arrives she issues her order, 'Now I will retire,' and at once three or four maids spread the underquits, help her—or, rather make her, for she simply stands like a doll—to change her clothes, and at last the girl, swaddled in her night garment, is put to bed just like a person suffering from a serious illness, and so the poor thing goes to sleep and releases her maids from their trouble till the morning, when the daily routine is resumed. First of all she issues to the maids waiting in her anteroom this extraordinary order, 'I shall get up now,' and then the process exactly the reverse of that of the night before is forthwith commenced by the girls. Day after day this routine is gone through and the spoiled child of the proud upstairs peer forces herself from her mistaken notion as to dignity to lead the life of an invalid and to cripple the normal development of her body."

Too Energetic with His Pen.

There used to be a picturesque North Carolina mountaineer named Willey Shook, in the capitol, says the Washington Post. He was a doorkeeper, or something of the kind, and his quaint sayings and his blue shirt made him quite famous. One day he wrote a long letter to a newspaper, in which he scored President McKinley rather severely on the civil service question. The letter was so clever that it attracted wide attention. "Who is Willey Shook?" asked the president, speaking to Senator Pritchard. "He is a constituent of mine who works at the capitol," said the senator. "Well," said the president, "if any friend of mine attacked you, I wouldn't keep him near me." Senator Pritchard needed no further hint and Shook was literally shaken. He went back to North Carolina, where he became a deputy collector. He is now in trouble again, for he has written a letter personally attacking Senator Simmons, and the latter has denounced his scalp. Mr. Shook seems to be entirely too energetic with his pen.

Still Another Tale Told of Archbishop Ryan's Ready Wit.

When Archbishop Patrick J. Ryan of Philadelphia, who has just been appointed a member of the Board of Indian Commissioners by the President, was a very young priest he was stationed at a parish in St. Louis, where Archbishop Keenlyde presided over the diocese, says the New York Times. The latter lived in a very small, unpretentious house, scarcely in keeping with his position in the church.

One day when Father Ryan was passing the house of the archbishop, accompanied by a Chicago priest, who was visiting the Mound City, he pointed out the house as the residence of the head of the local church. The Chicago priest said with surprise:

"Why, you should see the splendid residence we have in Chicago for our archbishop!"

"Yes," responded Father Ryan, "but you should see the splendid archbishop we have in St. Louis for our residence."

CHAPTER XX.

MICHAEL STROGOFF was not, had never been, blind. A purely human phenomenon, at once moral and physical, had neutralized the action of the red-hot blade which the executioner of Pezdar had passed over his eyes. One remembers that at the moment of that terrible punishment, Michael Strogoff was there, stretching out her hands toward her son.

Michael Strogoff looked at her, as a son can look at his mother when it is for the last time. Streams of tears welled up from his heart to his eyes, which his high spirit tried in vain to restrain and, dilling the sockets of his eyes, had thus saved his sight. The action of the heat had been destroyed just in the same manner as when a smelter, after having plunged his hand into water, thrusts it with impunity into molten iron.

Michael Strogoff had at once understood the danger he would have run in making known his secret to any one. He realized the advantages which he might gain from this situation for the accomplishment of his projects. It is because they would believe him to be blind that they would leave him his liberty.

It was necessary, then, that he should be blind, that he should be so for all, even for Nadia—in short, that he should be so everywhere and that not a gesture at any moment could cause any doubt of the sincerity of his role. His resolution was taken. Even his very life must be risked in order to give to all the proof of his blindness, and one knows how he risked it.

His mother alone knew the truth, and it was on the square of Tomska that he had whispered it in her ear when, bending over her in the shade, he had covered her with his kisses.

We can now understand how when Ivan Strogoff had placed the emperor's letter before his eyes, which he believed to be blind, Michael Strogoff had been able to read, had read that letter which disclosed the hateful designs of the traitor; hence that energy which he displayed during the second part of the journey; hence that unchanging will to reach Irkutsk and on arriving there to fulfill with his own voice his mission. He knew that the town was to be given up by the traitor. He knew that the life of the grand duke was threatened. The safety of the brother of the czar and of Siberia was still in his hands.

In a few words all this history was recounted to the grand duke, and Michael Strogoff told also, and with what emotion, the part which Nadia had taken in these events.

"Who is this young girl?" asked the grand duke.

"The daughter of the exiled Vassili Feodor," answered Michael Strogoff.

"The daughter of Commander Feodor," said the grand duke, "has ceased to be the daughter of an exile. There are no more exiles at Irkutsk."

Nadia, less strong in joy than she had been in sorrow, fell at the feet of the grand duke, who raised her with one hand, while he held out the other to Michael Strogoff. An hour afterward Nadia was in the arms of her father.

Michael Strogoff, Nadia, Vassili Feodor, were reunited. It was on all sides complete happiness.

The Tartars had been repulsed in their double attack upon the town. Vassili Feodor, with his little troop, had crushed the first assailants who had presented themselves at the Holch chain gate with the expectation of finding it open.

At the same time that the Tartars were driven back the besieged had rendered themselves masters of the fire. Before daybreak the troops of Feodor-Khen had returned to their encampments, leaving a good number of dead under the ramparts.

Among the dead was the gypsy Sangarra, who had tried in vain to rejoin Ivan Ogareff.

For two days the besiegers attempted no new assault. They were discouraged by the death of Ivan Ogareff. That man was the soul of the invasion, and he alone, by his long continued plots, had sufficed influence over the khans and their hordes to be able to lead them to the conquest of Asiatic Russia.

Meanwhile the defenders of Irkutsk had held themselves on their guard, and the investment continued, but on the 11th of October from the first streaks of day the boom of cannon resounded on the heights around Irkutsk. It was the relieving army which had arrived under the orders of General Klosevsky, who thus signaled his presence to the grand duke.

The Tartars did not stay any longer. They did not wish to risk a battle under the walls of Irkutsk. The camp of the Angara was immediately raised. Irkutsk was at last delivered.

With the first Russian soldiers two friends of Michael Strogoff had entered the town. They were the inseparable Blount and Jolivet. By gaining the right bank of the Angara along the barrier of ice they and the other fugitives had been able to escape before the games of the Angara had reached the raft. This had been put down by Alcid Jolivet in his notebook and in this manner, "Was near ending like a lemon in a bowl of punch?"

Their joy was great to once more find Nadia and Michael Strogoff safe and sound, especially when they learned that their brave companion was not blind, a statement which led Harry Blount to jot down this observation: "A red-hot iron is perhaps insufficient to destroy the sensibility of the optic nerve. To be modified."

Afterward the two correspondents, well installed in Irkutsk, occupied themselves in putting in order the impressions of their journey. From thence two interesting chronicles of the Tartar invasion were sent to London and Paris, which, strange to say, only contradicted each other on points of less moment.

For the rest the campaign was bad for the czar and his allies. That invasion, useless, as are all those that attack colossal Russia, was most fatal to them. They soon found themselves cut off by the troops of the czar, who retook successively all the conquered towns. Besides, the winter was terrible, and of those hordes, decimated by the cold, only a small number returned to the steppes of Tartary. The route from Irkutsk to the Ural mountains was free.

The grand duke was in haste to return to Moscow, but he delayed his journey in order to assist at a touching ceremony which took place some days after the entry of the Russian troops.

Michael Strogoff had sought out Nadia in the presence of her father had said to her, "Nadia, my sister still, when you left Irkutsk to come to Irkutsk had you no other regret but that of leaving behind you your mother?"

"No," replied Nadia; "none whatever."

"So that no part of your heart has remained down there?"

"None, brother."

"Then, Nadia," said Michael Strogoff, "I do not believe but that God in bringing us together, in allowing us to pass through these great trials together, has wished us to be united forever."

"Ah!" said Nadia as she fell into the arms of Michael Strogoff, and, turning toward Vassili Feodor, "My father," she said, blushing deeply.

"Nadia," said Vassili Feodor, "my joy will be to call you both my children."

The marriage ceremony took place in the cathedral of Irkutsk. It was very simple in its preparations, but very beautiful in the concourse of the military and civil population, which thus wished to show its gratitude to the young couple, whose strange journey had now become legendary.

Alcid Jolivet and Harry Blount of course assisted at the marriage, of which they wished to give an account to their readers.

"And does it not make you envious to imitate them?" asked Alcid Jolivet to his companion.

"I shaw!" exclaimed Harry Blount. "If, like you, I had a cousin!"

"My cousin is not any longer marriageable," laughingly answered Alcid Jolivet.

"All the better," added Harry Blount, "for they speak of difficulties which are about to arise between London and Peking."

"Would you not like to see what is passing there?"

"Why, my dear Blount," cried Alcid Jolivet, "I was about to propose it to you!"

This is how the two inseparables set out for China.

Some days after the ceremony Michael and Nadia Strogoff, accompanied by Vassili Feodor, started on their journey to Europe. That road of sorrows was only one of happiness on their return. They traveled very rapidly with one of those trains which glide like an express over the frozen steppes of Siberia.

Meanwhile, arrived at the banks of the Diska, just opposite Irkutsk, they stopped there one day. Michael Strogoff sought out the place where he had interred poor Nicholas. A cross was planted there, and Nadia prayed for the last time in the tomb of the humble and heroic soul which neither the one nor the other would ever forget.

At Omsk old Marfa was awaiting them in the little house of the Strogoffs. She pressed in her arms that noble girl whom in her heart she had already a hundred times called her daughter. The brave Siberian on that day had the right to own her son and to say that she was proud of him.

After some days passed at Omsk, Michael and Nadia Strogoff returned to Europe, and Vassili Feodor being well fixed in St. Petersburg, neither his son nor his daughter had any occasion ever to leave him, only when they went to see their old mother.

The young courier had been received by the czar, who attached him specially to his person and decorated him with the cross of St. George.

Michael Strogoff afterward attained to a high post in the empire. But it is not the history of his success, but the history of his trials, which has deserved to be chronicled.

THE END.

Rights of Chinese Parents.

The law and custom of China still give the parents supreme control over their children. As far as it is possible for an outsider to get to know this people, whose "ways are dark," it does appear that this power of life and death is not often exercised unless in the case of infants. Now and again, however, instances occur which prove that this barbarous right is still claimed and exercised.

A man in the Nam Hoi district has just put his son to death in a most cruel fashion, and the law takes no cognizance of the murder, for surely it cannot be called by any other name. The boy had been often reproved for associating with gamblers and robbers, and his record was a bad one. This much may be said in extenuation of the father's diabolical act. For a long time the father was unable to lay hands on his son. This he succeeded in doing by offering a reward to any one who could bring him home. During the day of his return the father gave no evidence of his wicked designs. This put the lad off his guard. But when night came the father threw off his mask, seized his son, bound him hand and foot and then proceeded leisurely to strangle him.—China Mail.

The Nose Indicates Character.

A large nose is always an unfailing sign of a decided character. It belongs to the man of action, quick to see and to seize opportunity. A small nose indicates a passive nature, one less apt to act, although he may feel as deeply. He will have many theories, while the possessor of a large nose will have deeds to show. Persons with small noses are most loving and sympathizing, but their friendliness is not the active kind.

A nose with the tip slightly tilted is the sign of the heartless flirt. A long nose shows dignity and repose, a short nose pugacity and a love of gaiety. An arched nose—one projecting at the bridge—shows thought. A straight nose shows an inclination to ward serious subjects. A nose turning up slightly indicates eloquence, wit and imagination. If turned up much it shows egotism and love of luxury. A nose that slopes out directly from the forehead, that shows no indenting between the eyes, indicates power. If the nose is indented deeply at the root the subject will be weak and vacillating. A nose that turns down signifies that the possessor is mischievous and sarcastic.—Ladies' Home Journal.

Parsley Honey.

It is very seldom that we come across honey that is not fit for human consumption, but it is just possible that you may have that experience. Here gather honey for themselves, not for us, and they naturally study themselves only. It generally happens, fortunately for us, that what suits them is also good for man, but there are exceptions.

The honey that bees gather from parsley is likely to make man feel very ill indeed. Probably that honey does not disagree with the collector, or it may occasionally be gathered and placed with the rest by mistake. There is just the chance that it is done for purposes of revenge by one member of the community who considers himself aggrieved and vents his spite on his fellows.

Hemlock honey may be innocuous to the bee, but it is likely to poison man and give him a decidedly bad time if not kill him.

The plant known as green fly will yield honey with a taste that will make a human being lose all desire for the treasures of the beehive.

The Girl Graduate.

We don't find speakers having the nerve to give advice to men graduates on the subject of marriage, says the Milwaukee Sentinel, but it seems as if it formed the chief topic in addresses to girl graduates this year.

IN THE CHURCHES.

Yesterday was cool and bright, and all the churches were largely attended. With a few exceptions the local ministers were in their pulpits, having returned from their summer vacations greatly invigorated.

Rev. G. W. Perryman and Rev.
G. M. McNeilly will continue their revival service this week at the Frontier schoolhouse in the northern end of the city. They are meeting with splendid success in their work.

Rev. J. C. Reid has returned from attending the Sunday school convention at Hopkinsville and filled his pulpit at the Cumberland Presbyterian church both morning and evening, preaching able and interesting sermons.

Rev. G. W. Banks who has been for two weeks in Murphysboro, Ill., assisting in a protracted meeting has returned home and preached both morning and night at the Third street Methodist church. Mr. Banks is a strong man and has gained a great hold in his work in the South Side.

Rev. W. H. Robinson, the recently installed pastor of the Second Baptist church is doing an excellent work in his charge, and is making many friends here. He will begin a revival at his church early in September.
Rev. Paul Price, known as the "Singing Evangelist," will assist him.

Dr. G. W. Briggs of the Broadway
Methodist church, by request, delivered Sunday evening his Sunday school address recently made at Hopkinsville, "The Message and the Messenger." He was heard by a large crowd, both Sunday school workers and others, and fully sustained his reputation as an eloquent speaker.

Dr. W. E. Cave preached strong sermons both morning and night at the First Presbyterian church to large congregations. This church, which has been closed all summer owing to changes being made in the interior, presents a most beautiful appearance and has delighted all who have seen it.
Dr. Cave has just returned from a several weeks' visit to his old home in Virginia.

The pulpit of the First Baptist church was occupied in the forenoon
by Rev. Diego Enshida of Corfu, Japan, who spoke on "How and Why I Became a Christian." He is a highly educated Japanese and an interesting speaker and pleased the large congregation who heard him. He is attending a theological seminary in this country, and is lecturing to raise funds with which to continue his labors.

Dr. Perryman preached to his people in the evening.

TO SERVE AS DEPUTY.

Mr. Charles Hart, the ex-policeman, will shortly be sworn in as a deputy sheriff and will act at La Belle park as policeman every night.
Mr. Hart has not been on the force in some time but is an excellent man for the place and will make the park people an excellent officer.
He will begin work tonight.

Mr. Ooe Alexander has returned from a trip through Texas.

Tenn.—Will Reside Here.

The many friends of Mr. Hugh Edwards, the well known and popular young steamboat engineer, will be

Pettigrew, a charming young lady of that place.

CHAIRMAN EMERY

Telegram From Frankfort to Call County Committee.

State Central Committeemas Whittemore to Be Present.

Chairman Charles Emery, of the Democratic county committee, this afternoon received from State Central Committeeman from this district Olem J. Whittemore the following telegram:

Frankfort, August 25, 1902.

Judge C. W. Emery, Paducah, Ky.
Wire immediately list of county committeemen, excluding city; also call committee together for Friday 3, 6 o'clock, business of importance.

Signed. O. J. WHITTEMORE.

Chairman Emery stated that he supposed that the meeting is for the purpose of settling the trouble in the committee. That he had recommended that Mr. Whittemore come down and settle it himself, and that he,
Chairman Emery, is willing to get out if the others do, and have an entirely new committee. The above telegram shows that Mr. Emery is still recognized as the chairman, and that the election of the so-called county committee last week has been ignored at Frankfort.
